

Field Journal Goals

The aim of Erosion Control Network's (ECN) field journals is to inform and promote to the erosion control community. ECN's field journal goal is to feature projects, concepts, news, and tips for industry professionals. In addition, ECN looks to reach all industry professionals including readership and participation from, but not limited to, erosion control specialists, architects, landscape contractors, golf course architects, and engineers.

Feature Article Format

Erosion Control Network is interested in publishing a wide range of information, news, and tips to better serve our readership. To have your field journal appear on our website or our monthly e-newsletter, please:

- 1) Include at least 1-3 original, professional quality images for the web (72 DPI). Will accept high resolution images of (280-300 DPI), as these can be resized by ECN. Images must be in TIFF, JPEG, or PNG-24 (transparency reserved) format. Please label submitted images correctly according to the field journal to avoid confusion.
- 2) Include contact information
- 3) Send the material on a CD with a business card and letterhead to:

Erosion Control Network, Attn: Editorial, 3676 W.
9000N Rd., Manteno, IL 60950

Manuscript SPECS:

Field Journals should be between 300-800 words in length and can be sent on a CD or e-mailed to:

info@erosioncontrolnetwork.com

If e-mailed the files must be in ZIP format. Please call the office at 1.800.914.8182 for any other formats before sending.

Please send the article in standard text format as a WORD document. Include a double spaced, type written copy for every submission. ECN will accept PDF formats for layout purposes, but be sure to still include the double spaced WORD document.

EROSIONCONTROLNETWORK.COM

3676 W. 9000N RD.

MANTENO, ILLINOIS 60950

1-800-914-8182

DISCLAIMER

All field journals are subject to editorial revision and ECN reserves the right to future publication in any form or language. By submitting artwork/editorial, you maintain that you own all copyrights and are giving permission for reproduction by ECN. Photos and graphics become the property of ECN unless prior arrangements are made in writing with the editor.